Dear Senator:

We, the undersigned organizations, write to request that you become a co-sponsor of S.110, the Medical Expense Savings Act, bipartisan legislation that would make permanent the 7.5 percent threshold for the medical expense deduction. We also ask you to support an extension of the 7.5 percent threshold in an end-of-year legislative package. Without action, 4.4 million Americans with high medical costs will face an unexpected tax increase when they file their returns in the coming months.

For more than 75 years, Americans with high health care costs have been able to deduct medical expenses from their taxes. For the millions of Americans who annually take this deduction, it provides important tax relief which helps offset the costs of acute and chronic medical conditions. This includes costs associated with long-term care, assisted living, and nursing homes. These families are often struggling with high deductible, co-pays, and out-of-pocket expenses related to prevention, diagnosis, treatment, equipment, qualified long-term care services costs and long term care insurance premiums. Seventy percent of the taxpayers who claim this deduction have incomes between $23,100 and $113,000 per year, and the immediate tax increase they face will make their healthcare less affordable.

Even for those people who are covered by Medicare, beneficiaries spend a large portion of their income on out-of-pocket expenses. The average Medicare beneficiary spends about $5,680 out-of-pocket on medical care. Furthermore, older Americans often face high costs for long-term services and supports which are generally not covered by Medicare, as well as hospitalizations and prescription drugs. Tax relief in this area can provide needed resources, especially important to middle-income individuals with high medical costs.

We thank you for your consideration, and once again ask you to cosponsor this important legislation and urge its inclusion in any end-of-year package. We must work together to ensure that tax filers with high out-of-pocket health care costs can continue to claim the medical expense deduction at the 7.5 percent of income threshold so that millions of Americans are not hit with a tax increase when they file in the coming months.
